Programs Offered

U10 and younger:

U10 and younger teams participate in friendly matches and festival play. Practices are twice a week, and the team travels to a number of one-day festivals during which they play 2-4 games. Commitment to travel is minimal. Play is usually only on Saturdays. A great way for the interested player and family to test the waters and develop fundamental skills. Some U10 players may be placed on a U11 travel team, if of appropriate skill level. Fees for one season range from $40-$80 depending on age-level. Uniform not included. RUSC offers fee reductions for families who request it.

U11-U19:

U11-U19 teams compete in the Blue Ridge Soccer League as well as some tournament play. These are select teams for which players must try out. Players who do not make the game roster may join as practice players at a much reduced cost. Teams practice two times a week and play in a VYSA sanctioned league. This involves an 8-10 game season, half of which are in Lexington or Rockbridge County. Often there is one tournament a season. Many of these players go on to play high school soccer. Commitment to travel is significant. Team families frequently carpool. Only tournaments require hotel stays. Fees for one season range from $175-$200. Uniform not included. RUSC offers fee reductions for families who request it.

Please note: RUSC offers fee reductions for families who request it.
